The Thing with Feathers: The Surprising Lives of Birds and ...

The Thing with Feathers explores the astonishing homing abilities of pigeons, the good deeds of fairy-wrens, the influential flocking abilities of starlings, the deft artistry of bowerbirds, the extraordinary memories of nutcrackers, the lifelong loves of albatrosses, and other mysteries—revealing why birds do what they do, and offering a glimpse into our own nature.

The Thing with Feathers: The Surprising Lives of Birds and ...

The Thing With Feathers documents exceptional behavior in a variety of species (the nest-making of bowerbirds, say, or the apparent dread penguins have of the dark) and then lightly explore that topic, usually with an eye to connecting it to the human experience. The book combines nature writing and science, though it's light-ish fare, and the human connections are sometimes a bit of a stretch, as in the chapter on hummingbirds.
